

Accessibility statement – ar.sweden.se

This website is run by Swedish Institute. We want as many people as possible to be able to use ar.sweden.se, and this document describes how Sweden.se complies with the accessibility regulations, any known accessibility issues, and how you can report problems so that we can fix them.

How accessible is Sweden.se?

We are aware that some parts of this website aren't fully accessible. See the section on non-accessible content below for more information.

How we tested this website

We perform continuous internal and external testing of ar.sweden.se. The last assessment was made on 20 April 2020.

Technical information about this website's accessibility

This website is mainly compliant with the Swedish accessibility regulations and WCAG 2.1 level AA.

Non-compliant content is listed below.

General issues

- All HTML does not validate, for example there are some heading elements that are missing a value. We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.
- Some moving content (background videos) starts automatically and there is no mechanism for the user to pause or stop it other than scrolling past it. We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.
- The main navigation is not visually consistent on all web pages. We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.
- Some external systems obtained for Sharingsweden.se are non-compliant with the accessibility requirements. We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.

Issues with usage without vision (blindness)

- There are headlines with incorrect nesting. We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.

- Some elements are missing Information, structure and relationships. We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.
- Some labels are missing (for links and elements). We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.
- There is no mechanism to bypass blocks of content that are repeated on multiple pages. We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.
- There are no alternatives (i.e. sound or text) for some video content. We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.

Issues with usage with visual impairment (including colour blindness)

- Some visual presentation of text does not meet the criteria of minimum contrast. We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.
- Hyperlinks in text only use colour as a visual cue (making them difficult to distinguish from the rest of the text). We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.
- Some decorative images are implemented in a way that indicates that they are informative.
- We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.

Issues with usage with physical impairment

- The menu is sometimes not operable through a keyboard interface (it does not expand). We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.
- Some elements are missing focus indicators. We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.
- There is no mechanism to bypass blocks of content that are repeated on multiple pages. We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.

What to do if you can't access parts of this website?

If you need content from this website that is not accessible for you, but is not within the scope of the accessibility regulations as described above, please contact us and tell us:

- the web address (URL) of the content
- your name and email address
- the format you need

Reporting accessibility problems with this website

We're always looking to improve the accessibility of this website. If you find any problems that aren't listed on this page or if we're not meeting the requirements of the accessibility regulations, contact us and let us know about the problem.

Enforcement procedure

The Agency for Digital Government is responsible for enforcing the accessibility regulations. If you're not happy with how we respond to your complaint, contact the Agency for Digital Government to lodge a complaint.

The statement was last updated on May 8th, 2020.